

1. Please have your parents sign the Welcome Letter that you received in class on Sunday and return with it next Sunday.
2. Got to the Scholastic Art & Writing Awards website: <http://www.artandwriting.org/what-we-do/the-awards/categories/>

On this page you will see a list of writing categories, some of which we discussed in class.

3. Choose the category that you have decided to write for. Once you click on the category, you will see a definition of the category. Below the definition is an additional link which states:

Click here to see examples of previous works in this category.
(This will open in a new tab)

4. Follow this link to read examples of winning works.
5. For homework, you have to print out 3 winning works that you like. Yes, this means you have to read some of the works. Print the 3 you like and bring them to class. You will be explaining what the piece of writing is about and what you like about the work.

For example, if I choose Flash Fiction, I will find 3 pieces of award winning flash fiction. I will print them out and jot down some notes as to why I enjoyed the piece. When it is time, you will use these examples to guide your own writing.

When looking for pieces of work within your category, look at the age of the author. Stay within your own age group, give yourself a year.

Welcome to the Scholastic Art & Writing Awards' online galleries!

Here you can browse through art and writing works that received National Medals from the past few years. Click on filter below to find works in specific categories, grades, or states!

Now featuring the 2016 Scholastic Art & Writing Award National Medalist works!

FILTER

1 - 15 of 57 first | prev | next | last

Flash Fiction Save The Chicken Grease Alexis Payne Age 15	Flash Fiction Jump The Shark Marley Townsend Age 14	Flash Fiction An Emotional Wreck's Guide To Recovery Sarah Claypoole Age 17	Flash Fiction Cristo Redentor Julia Salseda Age 15	Flash Fiction Cowboys Vs. Bears Elizabeth Miller Age 12
Flash Fiction Reform	Flash Fiction City Of Peace	Flash Fiction What She Learned	Flash Fiction The Future of the Brain	Flash Fiction Bird Song

ee the ge? Choose n age close your wn.

