Conjugating a verb

Remember that conjugating means that the subject matches the ending of the verb (they go hand in hand). Because of the subject or pronoun, we modify the ending of the verb. For regular verbs, the endings are the same, no matter the verbs.

Je -e

Tu -es

Il -e

Elle -e

On -e

Nous -ons

Vous -ez

Ils -ent

Elles -ent

When you read the verb, you hear the same “sound”, except for the form of ‘nous’ and ‘vous’.

* Note that we do not pronounce the ‘s’ plural and the ‘-ent’ is also silent.

Observe :

(1) Nous regardons

Nous mangeons

Nous partageons

Nous nageons

The ‘e’ is added so that the g keeps the soft [j] sound. It has no other value.

(2) if the verb starts with a vowel, je becomes j’

Since we do not pronounce ‘h’, je → j’ also.

Écouter → j’écoute

Habiter → j’habite

(3) ‘On’ is an informal pronoun that means we or people. It conjugates in the singular form, like il/elle.
