

“Broken Object Contest” – get creative and “break” something! Due March 7.

Use a clear glass or a plastic cup (or any other transparent water container) and any object other than a pencil (elongated objects work well, action figures work well too) to create an illusion of a “broken object” when viewing from the side/top. Make it fun!

Submit two photos (by email kosobokova@schoolnova.org) of your “broken object”: one from the side and one from the top. Aim to clearly show how “broken” it is!

I will combine all photos to show and discuss (and laugh!) in class next time.

This is due March 7 by midnight (I need time to put it together!).
